TO CONTROL PHILIPPINES

What General Whittier Thinks About Situation.

All Difficulties in Islands Could Be Settled in Three Days—His Talk With Aguinaldo—Condition at Iloilo Exaggerated.

[New York Herald.]

"Nothing in the world is easier of settlement than the situation in the Philippines. It could be settled in three days." Such was the emphatically expressed conviction of General Charles A. Whittier, speaking for publication for the first time yesterday since his return from his official post in the Philippines.

General Whittier went to Manila with General Merritt, and there served as collector until the end of October. He returned by way of Paris, and on his arrival in this country recently his first duty was to make his report to the officials in Washington. This done, he now feels that he is sufficiently freed from official obligations to speak of affairs in the Philippines. His position there gave him ample opportunity for observing the conditions in the islands.

"In the first place," said General Whittier when I saw him in his apartment at No. 247 Fifth avenue yesterday, "there is a wide ignorance of the wealth of the Philippines and the character of the Filipinos. The natives are not ignorant; they are not savages. They are adept at manufactures and as accountants, mariners and railroad operatives. They are quiet, most temperate and have shown great ability in their military affairs."

EASY TO BRING UNDER CONTROL.
 "With firmness, accompanied by diplomacy and tact, I think it is the simplest matter possible to bring them under our control."

"We may give them offices of minor importance, both military and civil, and try the experiment for whatever number of years may be necessary until they develop their capacity for governing, and we can then be guided by that."
 "I saw Aguinaldo on October 27, three days before leaving Manila. He said his people were about equally divided, one-half favoring absolute independence, the other half favoring an American protectorate. I said to him in reply to those favoring independence: 'The fact is, it must be the wish of all of you to develop the country. To do this, roads must be built on scientific principles, railroads must be constructed, sanitation will be necessary. You have no money or credit, you have no navy. The islands are so rich a prize that, apart from quarrels and schisms between the different tribes, foreigners are most likely to take from you portions of the possessions from time to time.'"

MIGHT ACCEPT PROTECTORATE.

"Aguinaldo replied, 'The civilized world would never permit such a thing,' to which I returned, 'How has it been in China, where England, Russia, France and Germany are striving at all times to take parts of the country?'"

"He had no answer for this. A confidential friend of Aguinaldo, Buen Camino, joined the conference while with Aguinaldo expressed very strongly his opinion that the two could move their people to the acceptance of a protectorate."

"Aguinaldo and Buen Camino added expressions of pleasure at my visit, as they felt they had been neglected and rather given the cold shoulder by Americans since the day after the fall of Manila, when they were assured of our friendship."

"My view is," continued General Whittier, "that after the signing of the treaty in Paris communication should have been established with them, and I have no doubt that an understanding could have been arrived at with no impairment of our dignity and with no suggestion that we were going to give up the islands, at least for the present."

COMMENTS THE COMMISSION.

Asked his opinion of the appointment by President McKinley of the commission to investigate conditions in the Philippines, General Whittier replied: "I think it is a most excellent thing. In a letter to the Secretary of State, written last September, I recommended that such a commission be sent there to study and report upon the conditions—political, social and material—of all the islands, and later in my testimony before the Peace Commission in Paris, I made a similar recommendation. "I then suggested that a Bureau of Science, with the ablest chief and staff to be obtained, should at once be established to comprehend the departments of geology, zoology, botany and ethnology, and also a land and forestry commission, or a department of land surveys and works. The present commission seems to fulfill all these requirements."

"It might readily assimilate to the British colonial system, and it will be easy for it to determine which of their many forms may be advantageously used. The British Colonial Empire has forty distinct and independent governments. Of these eleven have elective assemblies and responsible governments. The remaining twenty-nine are divided into many classes."

NATIVE LEADER A COMMISSIONER.

"In any form of government under a protectorate it would be of advantage probably to make one of the native leaders a commissioner of native affairs. In this or any event the Governor-General alone, or with the commission, should have absolute power."

"There is the greatest necessity, I think, for a man of affairs and experience in business methods, combined with military ability, to be Governor-General, and the man admirably fitted in all respects for this office is Major General Francis V. Greene."

Speaking of the existing condition of affairs at Iloilo, General Whittier said: "The whole matter is greatly exaggerated, and I think, could have been easily averted. I have seen the statement that the strength of the native army is 100,000 men. I greatly doubt, if they have 3,000, as in the early part of October merchants in Manila having business connections with Iloilo said to me that the natives were likely to occupy that place at any day, that the Spanish had less than 300 men there, and were prepared to evacuate. "Any movement after the treaty could have been averted. I think, by an arrangement with Aguinaldo, as I have already suggested."

BERKLEY.

Mrs. W. B. Snow and daughter, Helen, are visiting the family of Rev. E. F. Sawyer, in Elizabeth City, N. C. Mr. W. B. Snow, who has been confined for several days with grip at his home on Chestnut street, is much improved.

Miss Lizzie McConville and little Pearl Jones left yesterday morning for Lynchburg, where they will spend several days with friends and relatives.

Mr. W. Cox left yesterday for Rockingham county, Va., to visit friends for several days.

Mr. W. L. Berkley will begin to-day perhaps one of the largest and best assorted clearing sales in the furniture line that has ever been made in the history of the town. A largely increased business during the past year necessitated a large stock, from which one can select most any style at a large reduction in price, as may be seen by referring to his advertisement in this issue.

Mr. Dougherty opens his large sale to-day. He has the largest stock from which to select that he has had since engaging in business.

A VICTIM.

[From Answers.]
 "Why does Buntz go around with his hair pulled down over his forehead and his shoulders all hunched up? It makes him look like a monkey."
 "I know it. Some one who had a grudge against him once told him that he looked like Napoleon, and he believed it."

WINE OF CARDUI

What One Bottle Did.

MADISON, IND., June 21.
 On account of bad health, I did not have my menses for four years until I took Wine of Cardui. I spent hundreds of dollars doctoring without relief, but the first bottle of the Wine brought me around all right.
NANNIE B. DUNCAN.

Wine of Cardui

A woman cannot be healthy if the monthly flow is absent. Pains will appear in the back, hips and lower stomach, and extreme nervousness will make life almost unbearable. The usual causes are draughts of cold air, imprudent bathing, wet feet or violent excitement. Such a condition should never be neglected a moment. The longer the delay, the more alarming the danger. Wine of Cardui will, as Mrs. Duncan says, "bring women around all right". If the patient be enfeebled, no harm can befall, for Wine of Cardui will improve the general health of a woman in that condition, and strengthen her so that she may go through the ordeal of childbirth with the least possible distress and pain. It relieves every sort of "female trouble".

Sold in Large $1.00 Bottles by Druggists.
